

1. In this exercise, you will create questions to ask a hypothetical interviewer. We will provide you with the general information you would like to know about a company or position. Then, you will create the question to help you learn the information. Are you ready to get started? 1 point

☐ I'm ready!

2. You would like to know more about the attitudes and behaviors of the company and its employees. What question could you ask to learn more about this topic? 1 point

What do you think?

Your answer cannot be more than 10000 characters.

3. You would like to better understand the tasks involved with the job and if you have the skills and experience to do the job well. What question could you ask to learn this information? 1 point

What do you think?

Your answer cannot be more than 10000 characters.

4. You're concerned that the role you're interviewing for has qualifications that do not precisely match your previous job experience. However, you believe you have nontraditional experiences that match the qualifications, such as from a side business. What question could you ask to clear up any concerns the interviewer may have about your background? 1 point

What do you think?

Your answer cannot be more than 10000 characters.